Focus on Content equips students with the academic language of narrative and expository texts.

Classical and Contemporary Literature includes short stories, myths, and legends, poetry and songs.

Learning strategies are explicitly taught and recycled.

Reading

Before you read

Use the learning strategies.

1. Look at the pictures and the title.
2. Look for words you know in the story.
3. What do you think the story is about?
4. Make a prediction.
5. Tell your prediction to your classmates.

LEARNING STRATEGY

Making Predictions:

When you make predictions, you try to guess what is going to happen next in a story. Use information or clues from the story to help you make predictions. It’s okay to change your predictions.

I Love School!

Hi! My name is Lila. I am nineteen years old. I come from Peru. I live in the United States. I am a student. I go to Washington School. Where is Washington School? It is on School Street. Washington School is a nice school. There are many classrooms, and there are many teachers. There is a gym and a big auditorium. The cafeteria is nice. It is across from one of the gyms. There are many tables and chairs in the cafeteria. There is a library with a lot of books. The library has a lot of computers, too. I use the computers in the library every day. I really like computers.

Science

Amazing Plants! is a nonfiction science text that tells about plants and how they grow. As you read, look carefully at the diagrams that go with the text.

Why Are Plants Amazing?

Plants are an amazing form of life. Scientists think there are about 300,000 different kinds of plants. Some plants are huge and old, like the giant redwood tree. Other plants, such as algae, are tiny and live in water. Some plants, like orchids, have beautiful flowers. Other plants, like the saguaro cactus, have sharp spines instead of leaves.

Without plants, most other forms of life on Earth could not live. Plants are an important food for many living things. People and many animals eat different parts of plants, including fruits, nuts, leafy vegetables, and such like grains. Plants also release oxygen into the air. People and animals need oxygen to live.

CHECK YOUR UNDERSTANDING

1. List two ways that plants are important to other living things.
2. Name two ways that plants are important to other living things.

UNIT 2
Going to Extremes: Sports and Obsession

1. Focus on the Topic
   A. Predicting
   - Look at the photograph, and discuss these questions.
   - 1. What is the man in the photo doing? How does he look?
   - 2. What kind of person participates in this sport?
   - 3. Read the title of this unit. What do you think it means?

2. Focus on Vocabulary
   - Complete the chart below by adding different forms of each word. Use a dictionary to look up any words that you don’t know. An (*) indicates there is no form in that category.

3. Focus on Reading
   - Reading One: An Interview with Tony Hawk
     - You are going to read an imaginary interview with Tony Hawk, a professional skateboarder. Before you read, write down three questions that you think the interviewer will ask him about his sport and his life.
   - 1. ________
   - 2. ________
   - 3. ________

4. Reading Two: High School Star Hospitalized for Eating Disorder
   - Senior high school gymnast Ashley Elsasser was hospitalized Tuesday for complications related to an eating disorder. Her coach, Diane Cady, says Elsasser had been struggling with her weight for months.
   - She was always a loss—not only to the team, but to Ashley personally,” says Cady. “She had hopes of qualifying for the Olympics, but her health came first, of course. Once she is better, I’m sure she can get back into the sport and gain back the weight.”
   - Dr. Paula Zin, director of the Eating Disorders Clinic at Baldwin Hospital, explains that it is not unusual for athletes, especially gymnasts, to become obsessed with their weight. One reason for this is the pressure to perform at a high level.

   - Thought-provoking topics.
   - Two reading selections offer different perspectives.
   - Extensive vocabulary practice.
