

Reading

1. Read about Ron’s job. Then complete Column A of the chart. Write yes or no.

I work at a movie theater three days a week. It’s a great job because I get to see movies for free. The movie theater is open seven days a week from noon until after midnight, so I work different times and different days.

Sometimes I sell tickets. They cost $5.75 for shows before 6 P. M. and $9.00 for all the other shows, but children under 8 and senior citizens (people over 65) pay only $5.75 all the time.

Other times I take people’s tickets and give directions to the right part of the theater. My theater has at least twelve different movies showing, so it can be confusing for people. If they go into the wrong theater, they won’t see the movie they want.

Other times I serve food and drinks. We sell all kinds of things: hamburgers, hot dogs, French fries, pizza, different drinks, candy, ice cream, and popcorn. The theater is really big so if people want to sit and have something before or after the movie, there are plenty of tables. People can also take their food and drinks with them into the theater before the movie starts. (There are no intermissions like at a concert.) People love to eat popcorn during the movie. I know that because there are lots of empty popcorn containers in the theater when the movie is over and I have to help clean. That part of my job I hate!

	A	B
	Ron’s movie theater	My local movie theater
1. Is the movie theater open 12 hours?	_____	_____
2. Is the movie theater open every day?	_____	_____
3. Are tickets always the same price?	_____	_____
4. Does everybody pay the same price?	_____	_____
5. Are there a lot of different movies?	_____	_____
6. Can people eat hot food at the movie theater?	_____	_____
7. Do people eat during the movie?	_____	_____
8. Are there intermissions during the movies?	_____	_____

2. Now complete Column B of the chart about a movie theater near you.

