Bonfire Night

My favorite British holiday is Bonfire Night. British people celebrate it on November 5. There are big bonfires in towns and villages, and there are lots of beautiful fireworks. Before the day arrives, we make a "Guy."

This is a model of a man made out of old clothes and newspapers. On Bonfire Night, we burn the Guy. It's very exciting to watch. It's usually cold in November, so we cook potatoes and hotdogs in the fire. There are many kinds of fireworks. There are small firecrackers and really big, noisy rockets. Everyone has a wonderful time. Bonfire Night is a great holiday!
