THE UNITED NATIONS INTERNATIONAL SCHOOL

1 Read the text.

The United Nations International School (UNIS) is in New York City. The teachers and students are from all over the world. The teachers come from 70 countries and the students come from 115 countries!

The school has twelve grades: 1-12. English is the main language of the school. Foreign languages are very important. Students study French or Spanish in grades 1-6. In grade 7, they study Arabic, Chinese, German, Italian, Japanese, or Russian.

In middle school (grades 7-9), students study many subjects: language arts, math, geography, art, music, physical education, technology, and health. UNIS has a big library. There are books, CDs, videos, and computers.

School starts in September. It ends in June.
