- a. Tanya’s Out with Friends
- b. Tanya’s Tired
- c. Tanya Helps Her Family

Tanya Lawson often arrives at school very tired, and her teachers are worried because they say she isn’t sleeping enough. They think she’s going to bed too late, probably because she’s going out with friends. Her teachers don’t know the truth.

“My family is having financial problems at the moment. My dad doesn’t have a job, and my mom is taking care of my little sister. So I’ve got a job to help with the money situation.” After school, Tanya works doing the household chores in various neighbors’ houses. “From Monday to Friday, I do the ironing, laundry, and vacuuming in five different houses on my street, and on Saturday morning I help at home. I’m an expert at household chores now!”

So when does she do her homework? “I do it when I get home after work, at about ten o’clock at night. That’s why I’m tired when I go to school, but I don’t want to tell the teachers because I don’t want people to know about the money problems we’ve got.”
