Oxfam International

Oxfam International consists of thirteen organizations working together in more than a hundred countries to find solutions to poverty, suffering, and injustice. It was formed in 1985 by a group of independent non-government organizations (NGO's).

Oxfam believes that everyone in the world has five principal rights: to earn a living, to have basic social services, to have life and security, to be heard, and to have an identity.

Their main objective is to find real solutions to global poverty. They want to help poor people have more control over their lives. To do this, they have development programs relating to health, education, and human rights. Oxfam also works with people in humanitarian disaster or emergency situations, such as war and famine. They spend around $520 million globally on their programs every year. You can find out more about Oxfam's work at www.oxfam.org.
