Grammar: Adjectives

24 Read about two swimming pools and complete the sentences. Use the comparative.

Parkway Pool	Victoria Pool
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> open since 1976 25m pool water always heated 1.8m deep small pool for children call with 50 seats 1,500 visitors a day in the summer swimming lessons: £40.00 for 20 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> open since 1922 30m pool water never heated 2m deep chairs for sunbathing call with 20 seats 1,500 visitors a day in the summer swimming lessons: £35.00 for 20

- _____ Pool is _____ than _____ Pool. (old)
- _____ Pool is _____ Pool. (long)
- _____ Pool is _____ Pool. (old)
- _____ Pool is _____ Pool. (deep)
- The call at _____ Pool is _____ the call at _____ Pool. (big)
- _____ Pool is _____ Pool in the summer. (crowded)
- The lessons at _____ Pool are _____ the lessons at _____ Pool. (expensive)

25 the smallest, the most expensive

This is the smallest TV in the shop. That's the biggest – and the most expensive. This is the best DVD player.

- We use superlative adjectives to compare a person or thing with a number of other people or things.
- For short adjectives, we add the -est. Be careful of the spelling: small → the smallest big → the biggest happy → the happiest
- For long adjectives, we use the most: expensive → the most expensive popular → the most popular
- These superlative adjectives are irregular: good → the best bad → the worst far → the furthest/furthest

Intermediate - Proficiency

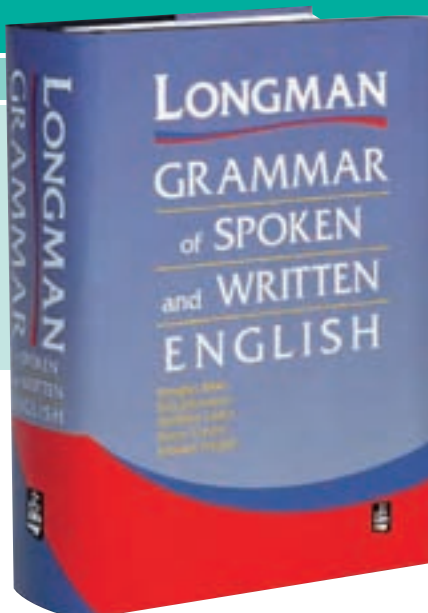

Douglas Biber, Susan Conrad, Geoffrey Leech

A comprehensive, corpus-based grammar reference specially written for the advanced student.

The Longman Student Grammar of Spoken and Written English provides a thorough examination of the structures of English as it is used today. It shows not only which structures are used but how the choices differ in speech and in different genres of written English.

- Combines explanations of English grammar with information on how, when and why we use different structures
- Shows the differences between spoken and written grammar
- Includes frequency information on the most common forms
- Can be used with the accompanying workbook as a classroom text, or on its own as a reference grammar

Advanced +

Douglas Biber, Stig Johansson, Geoffrey Leech, Susan Conrad, Edward Finegan

The Longman Grammar of Spoken and Written English is revolutionary – the first entirely corpus-based grammar of English.

It is an essential reference tool for serious students of English and linguistics as well as people involved in ELT methodology and materials writing.

- Over 350 tables and graphs show the frequency of constructions in different contexts, from conversation to fiction to academic prose
- Entirely corpus-based with 6000 authentic examples from the 40 million-word Longman Spoken and Written English Corpus
- Suggests the reasons why we choose a particular structure in a particular context
- Compares British and American spoken and written English

Areas covered include basic grammar: description and distribution, key word classes and their phrases and complex structures. Each area is subdivided into more detailed content.

Anyone with a serious interest in English grammar will have to take into account the information this book contains.
